

This is my two cents on this topic. I am so pleased to see so many Greggs on my Facebook news feed. They may not be aware that we have a group and a page that they can share their stories and I am introducing you to these avenues now.

I have changed the group's privacy from "secret" to "public". This makes the group available to all and the general public can see what is posted. It is also easier to join so let's have a discussion. How you doing?
