

Sir Godfrey Gregg

Your emotions mirror the emotions of those around you.

Surround yourself with hateful people and you will find yourself hateful.

Surround yourself with nervous people and you too will be nervous.

If you surround yourself with loving people you will be a loving person too.

Our environment affects us all far more than we admit but, fortunately, we can change our environment to one that pleases us.

Be brave enough to live with love, surrounded by love.