

Sir Godfrey Gregg

- I want to prove myself, but not to impress others.
- I want to challenge myself, but not to struggle.
- I want to matter, but not to feel superior.
- I have passion, not by degree or benefits, but by spirit.

A man's words of wisdom aren't by his tongue, but his heart.

A woman's love isn't from comfort, but by her integrity.

No one is equal, but that's okay. Being different is our purpose of free will. We create strength from our journey, not our muscles. I want to be better. Because it doesn't make me stronger, it makes me superhuman.
